ALOHA PETROLEUM DONATES $10,000 TO BISHOP MUSEUM FOR SCREAM MACHINES EXHIBIT

Honolulu, HI (December 19, 2014) – Aloha Petroleum, Ltd. recently donated $10,000 to Bishop Museum as a sponsor of Scream Machines, a fun, interactive exhibit that explores the science behind roller coasters. A portion of the funds were raised through its canister collection program at statewide participating Aloha Island Mart stores in September and October.

Among the exhibit's highlights are a roller coaster ride simulator - "Ride the Great Ones" – which lets visitors experience five of the world's greatest roller coasters viewed on a large screen from the seat of a roller coaster car; an elaborate model of a roller coaster called "The Black Plague;" and interactive stations where kids can create their own roller coasters.

"Bishop Museum is exceptionally grateful to Aloha Petroleum for their shared commitment to education and community. It's been wonderful to develop this exciting new partnership, and we look forward to creating future impacts together" said Bishop Museum President and CEO Blair D. Collis.

"Bishop Museum plays such an important role here in Hawaii, not only as the state's premier natural and cultural history institution but also as a resource for island families to explore science and other subjects through hands-on exhibits," said Aloha Petroleum President and CEO Richard Parry. "We're proud we can support them in their efforts to bring Scream Machines to the island, introducing keiki to the science of roller coasters to learn about kinetic motion.”

Scream Machines will be on display in Bishop Museum’s Castle Memorial Building through January 26, 2015.
