ALOHA PETROLEUM TEES UP $3,000 FOR HAWAII STATE JR. GOLF ASSOCIATION

Honolulu, Hawai`i - Aloha Petroleum, Ltd. recently presented the Hawaii State Jr. Golf Association (HSJGA) with a check for more than $3,000, continuing it's support of junior golf for the fourth consecutive year.

“As a community, we’re lucky to have an organization like HSJGA, which continues to nurture our upcoming leaders and athletes through the game of golf,” said Richard Parry, Aloha Petroleum president and CEO. “By supporting Junior Golf, we are able to contribute to the development and growth of young golfers across the state.”

For every gallon of gas that was purchased last year by customers with a Junior Golf affinity fuel charge card, Aloha Petroleum contributed 3 cents to HSJGA. Aloha Petroleum’s contributions added up to $3,106.31.

“We’re excited to continue our relationship with Aloha Petroleum,” said Greg Nichols, vice president of HSJGA, who accepted the contribution. “The company’s support of HSJGA over the years has helped develop many of our energetic and talented youth.”
