ALOHA PETROLEUM GIVES AWAY FREE GAS TO OAHU DRIVERS

Honolulu, Hawai`i – Two Oahu drivers won't need to pay at the pump for an entire year thanks to Aloha Petroleum, Ltd. and Bank of Hawaii. Company representatives today presented Debra Komatsu of Waipahu and Amber Padasdao-Puu of Mililani with gas cards that are good for about a year's worth of fuel. Each gas card is valued at $2,000 and can be used at any of Aloha Petroleum's 50-plus fueling locations.

"We wanted to find a fun way to kick off the New Year and create an element of surprise for our customers," said Gary Altman, General Manager – Company Operated Stores. "We thought giving away a year's worth of gas to our valued customers would be a great way to start the year, and I think our winners would agree."

Aloha Petroleum and Bank of Hawaii partner on numerous promotions throughout the year. The annual gas giveaway, which was held from Nov. 1, 2010 through Dec. 15, 2010, continues to be the most exciting. All Aloha Petroleum customers who completed a Bank of Hawaii ATM transaction at participating Aloha Island Mart convenience store locations were automatically entered into the free gas drawing.

"We continue to invest in making Bank of Hawaii the most convenient bank for our customers. Having our ATMs at Aloha Island Marts supports this strategy," said David Oyadomari, senior vice president at Bank of Hawaii. "The free gas for a year promotion is one of our favorites and is the perfect way to say mahalo to our loyal customers and help them save money on transportation."

"When I got the call that I won, I was so surprised," said Debra Komatsu. "You always see these types of contests, but never expect to win. I can honestly say I was speechless. I want to thank Aloha Petroleum and Bank of Hawaii for this amazing prize."
