ALOHA PETROLEUM, SUNOCO FINALIZE SALE

Honolulu, Hawai`i (December 17, 2014) - Aloha Petroleum, Ltd. ("Aloha") today announced the closing of its sale to Sunoco LP, which acquired 100 percent of Aloha's outstanding common stock. The deal was estimated at $240 million in cash at close, plus certain future contingent payments.

As part of Sunoco LP, Aloha will join a family of companies that includes a retail network of more than 5500 retail fuel and convenience stores. Aloha will continue to operate as a separate entity with current management and employees, also continuing to operate the Aloha and Shell fuel brands and the Aloha Island Mart convenience store brand.

"Aloha Petroleum is pleased to be a part of the Sunoco family," said Aloha's President and Chief Executive Officer Richard Parry. "This acquisition lays the foundation to strengthen our company for the future, providing industry expertise and financial strength that will allow us to better serve our retail, wholesale and fuel terminal customers."
